

To Build Up And Not Destroy

I have watched them tear a building down
A gang of men in a busy town
With a ho-heave-ho and lusty yell
They swung a beam and the side wall fell.

I asked the foremen “Are those men skilled, the kind of men you would hire to build?”
He gave me a laughed and said “No indeed just common labour is all I need”.